

WORK-RELATED MENTAL HEALTH

6% of all serious workers' compensation claims are for work-related mental health conditions.

Australians are compensated for work-related mental health conditions. 7,140

92% of serious work-related mental health condition claims are related to work-related mental health stress

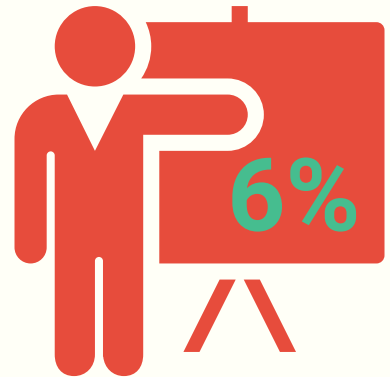

OCCUPATIONS MOST AT RISK

Defence force members, fire fighters and police

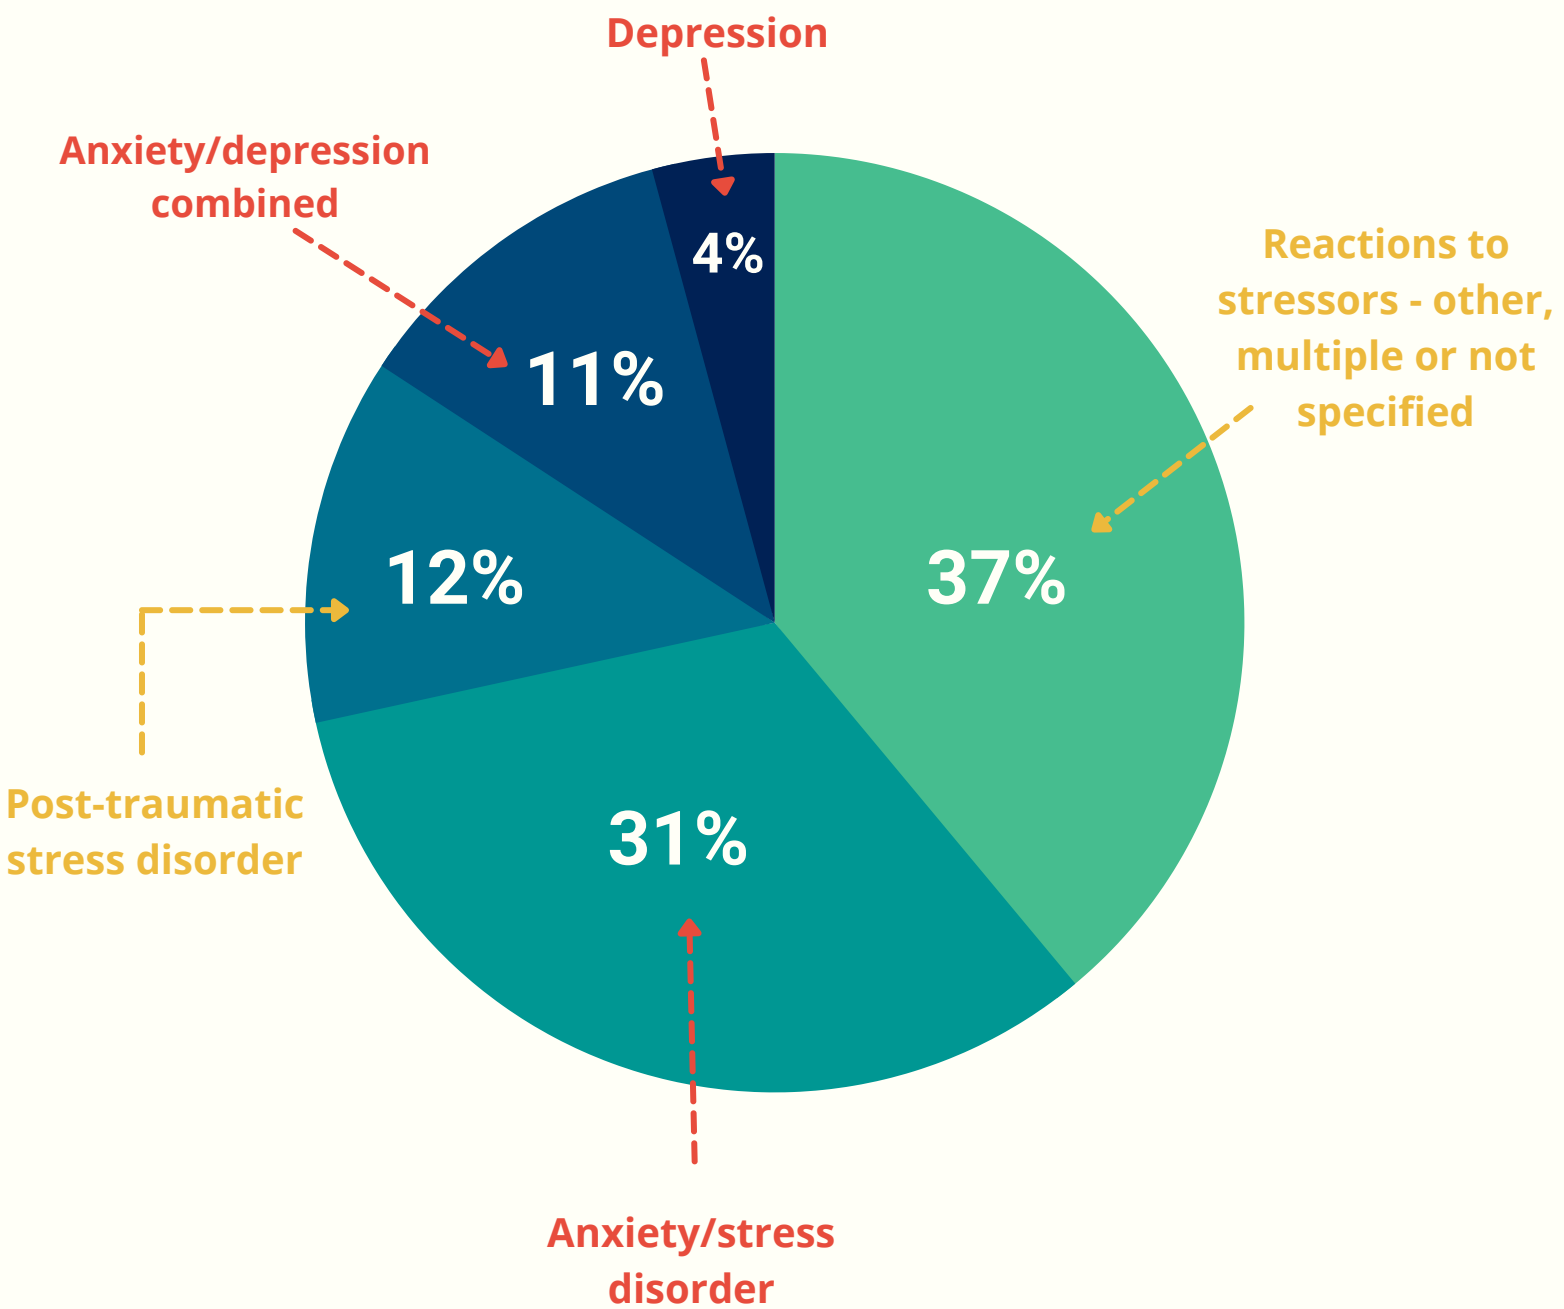

Health and welfare support workers

School teachers

TYPES OF MENTAL HEALTH CONDITIONS FOR WHICH WORKERS RECEIVED COMPENSATION

MAIN CAUSES OF SERIOUS MENTAL HEALTH CONDITION CLAIMS

Exposure to workplace or occupational violence

Work-related harassment or bullying

Work pressures